

POST-ELECTION REVIEW

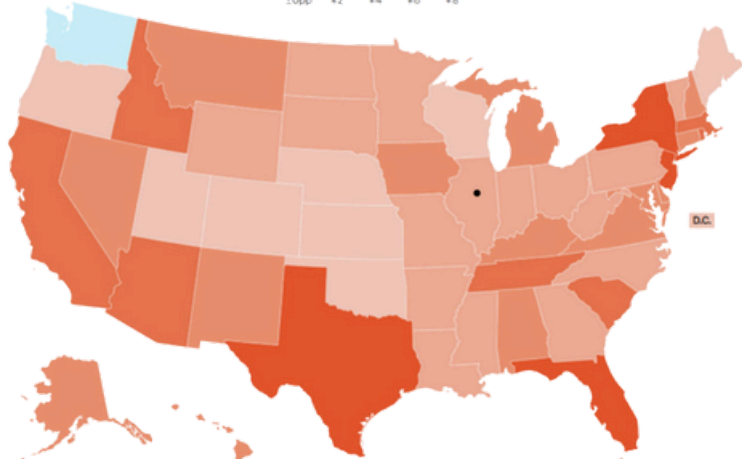

A National Shift

As Pro-Choice Washington prepares for the work ahead with Donald Trump in the White House, Washington voters made their voices clear.

Compared to the 2020 election, Washington was the only state of all 50 to shift more progressive.

Shift in Trump vote margin from 2020 to 2024

Data: AP; Map: Jared Whalen/Axios Visuals

That is not by coincidence! Because of your hard work and ongoing support, we increased majorities in state offices and elected key repro-champions, like newly elected Governor Bob Ferguson.

The whole country will be watching how we respond in 2025. Pro-Choice Washington is ready!

Our Community Impact

88%

of Pro-Choice Washington's endorsed candidates won their elections

1000

doors knocked

10,500

texts sent to voters

18,770

digital impressions on social

$22,000

invested into local races

FEDERAL RACES

Randall in her signature pink blazer

Congresswoman Emily Randall

Congresswoman-elect Emily Randall has been a strong champion and friend to Pro-Choice Washington during her time as state senator for Washington's 26th LD.

Over the last few legislative sessions, Congresswoman-elect Randall lead the floor action on our signature legislative bill, the Keep Our Care Act.

Pro-Choice Washington proudly endorsed her early in her primary, and she's now made national news to become the first LGBTQ + Latina in Congress!

Congresswoman Marie Gluskamp Perez

Congresswoman Marie Gluskamp Perez once again defeated white nationalist MAGA Republican Joe Kent.

She won in a district that consistently votes for Trump while remaining a champion for abortion access.

STATEWIDE RACES

Pro-Choice Washington is beyond thrilled that Bob Ferguson will be our next Governor, winning his race against Dave Reichert.

Governor-elect Ferguson has been a champion of our organization for years, and our activists worked closely with him to help pass the My Health, My Data Act and other reproductive freedom protections.

Joining him is Nick Brown as our next Attorney General. Pro-Choice Washington is sure these two elected officials will have our backs and stand up to resist the second Trump term.

In addition, the three main repeal initiatives paid for by a conservative hedge fund billionaire failed massively across the state! The Capital Gains Tax, Climate Commitment Act and Washington's long term care insurance will remain law.

42nd Legislative District

After 30 years of Republican control, we held the ground by re-electing Rep. Joe Timmons and Rep. Alicia Rule in Whatcom County by three times the margin than the previous election, solidifying the shift to a more progressive trifecta.

26th Legislative District

In 2022, Adison Richards lost this seat by less than 800 votes. Fast forward to 2022 when he ran again against Jesse Young, a long anti-choice politician in Olympia.

As of 11/18, Richards was ahead by 3,000 votes making this an all but certain flipped pro-choice seat.

18th Legislative District

Adiran Cortes flipped this Senate seat from an anti-choice district to a pro-choice district! We are still awaiting results from Terri Niles and John Zingale in their respective house races.

STATEWIDE RACES: continued

3rd Legislative District

The retirement of Senate Majority Leader Andy Billig opened up a path for House Rep. Marcus Riccelli to become Spokane's next senator. With his resounding victory, Riccelli is heading to the senate with broad community support.

Long time community activist, Natasha Hill ran for Riccelli's vacant house seat, and with an impressive victory, Hill will make history as the first Black woman to represent Spokane in the Washington State Legislature.

Natasha Hill, the first Black woman to represent Spokane in the WA state legislature

COUNTY RACES

Ryan Mello will be the first out gay County Executive in Washington, after winning the Pierce County Executive position in a hard-fought race against Kelly Chambers.

Jani Hitchen continues to lead her race for the Pierce County Council, which will now flip to a pro-choice majority!

In Spokane, Molly Marshall, who had a tough race against long time incumbent Al French, was behind by 1500 votes. This race would have flipped Spokane County and just shows the importance of movement building and the possibility of winning this seat!

NOTABLE DISTRICTS:

In the 14th legislative district which covers Yakima Valley, there are several races too close to call. The district was redrawn due to gerrymandering and it disenfranchised Hispanic representation for decades.

Chelsea Dimas and Maria Beltran await official results

In the 10th LD, Janet St Clair was ahead on election night, but saw her late counts slip in a heartbreaking race but we continue to get close to flipping this Senate seat.

Pro-Choice Washington also held our first ever canvass in Walla Walla with Whitman College students and canvassed with the Washington Bus to connect with youth voters in Cheney!

Student canvassers help GOTV In Walla Walla

Get Involved in 2025

Join us for action to pass policies that build reproductive freedom for all.

Donate to support our continued work in communities across Washington.